NOTIFICATIONS

In accordance with the appeal and strategy of the world health organizations, as well as the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare of the Republic of Croatia, the symposium and workshop will highlight the importance of advancing interdisciplinary cooperation in the exchange of scientific and experiential knowledge. Furthermore, it will contribute to information-sharing within the profession and with the general public about the importance of a personalized approach in the development of prevention or treatment, through the application of corneotherapy and dermaivduals DMS biophysiological programme for skin treatment. Corneotherapy-dermaivduals is a multidisciplinary method with an individual concept. It is based on nanotechnology and biomembrane base creams as well as precise diagnosis of the skin using CK electronic diagnostic devices, necessary in every medical and pharmacy practice.

The symposium is intended for specialists in dermatovenerology, primary health care practitioners and pharmacy practitioners, as well as for other specialists involved in skin care and protection.
Interpretation into Croatian will be provided.

During the symposium there will be a promotional sale of the book "Allergic and Immune Diseases", useful for every pharmacy and medical practice.
